Who are we?

We are a local group of people affiliated with AusApt (The Australian Association of Psychological Type - <http://www.ausapt.org.au/>) who are very interested in exploring why people are different for both personal and professional reasons.

Is this for me?

Interested in:

- Understanding why it is so difficult to change people?
- Improving communication with your partner?
- Relating better to your children?
- Working better with your boss and co-workers?
- Knowing yourself better?
- Doing a better job with your clients?
- Helping your children to learn more effectively?

YES, then come along to one of our informal coffee-shop meetings and have a chat with others who are exploring these issues and many others related to personality types. All are welcome, whether you are a curious mum or a professional counsellor. Put yourself at ease and relax into a short, no stress discussion on your areas of interest.

Hassle free

You don't have to be a member and there is no participation fee. All you need to do is turn up and pay for your own coffee and munchies. You can come and go at any time. Its all very informal.

Structure of our meetings

We start by discussing a warm-up topic for 15 minutes and then collect ideas from people about their current personality type-related interests. From these we choose those we feel like exploring on this occasion. Someone in the group will have volunteered to be 'host' i.e. introduce things and keep an eye on time.

You are very welcome!
