

Typing Jung - Typing Tips with Mary McGuinness

Who was Jung typologically speaking - do you know?

Dr. Robert Johnson (INFP) author of He, She We. and other well known and accessible books based on Jungian psychology tells the story of his first encounter with Jung. Johnson was a therapist in training who in a private session with Jung as was very impressed by how much Jung understood him and supposed Jung to be of the same personality preferences. A little later he saw Jung relating deeply to a person of a differing personality type in the manner of that person's personality. He realised that Jung had the gift of empathy with and showing understanding of people of differing personalities. Robert wondered 'What really is Jung's type?' For many years there has been a raging debate about Jung's own innate typological preferences.

Mary McGuinness has researched widely and deeply to discover that Jung's preferences were _ _ _ _ !

Come discover Jung's innate typological preferences and the evidence for it. Examine how you can avoid the pitfalls of 'typing others' and still get a valuable insight into people's personalities.

Presenter: Mary McGuinness a pioneer of typology in Australia, well known to us as type expert, author, educator and international presenter.

When: 1.30 pm – 4.00 pm, Saturday 14 August 2010

Where: Northern Beaches (formerly Manly Warringah) Community College
Level 1, 14 William Street, Brookvale , NSW, 2100

Enter From: from William Street - no turn into William Street from Pittwater Road

Parking: On-street parking available in William Street, Corrie Road and surrounding.

Public transport: Bus stop for 'Warringah Mall' in Pittwater Road Brookvale.

Cost: Members $20 (local and interstate) Non-members $25

RSVP: Fusae Harada

Email: fusae@icet.edu.au

Please let us know you are coming by emailing us so we can make sure we have a comfortable seat for you and your mates!