Dating, Mating and Relating - avoid disaster go for longevity! with Susan Nash (ENFJ)

Looking for a mate? Hoping to stay with your mate? Well mate don't miss this session!

Divorce rates are rising. Nearly half of all marriages end in divorce. Creating successful personal relationships represents an ongoing challenge for individuals in today's busy world. In Dating, Mating and Relating we will see how we can use our knowledge of type and temperament for understanding how we view the world and understanding our partners. By comprehending human differences, we can identify potential issues, depersonalise possible conflicts and pursue strategies to communicate more effectively with each other. The good news is, while many of our society's popular media infer there is a perfect mate for every person, Dating, Mating, and Relating shows how anyone can be with anyone.

Our well qualified guide is Susan Nash the British-born owner of EM-Power, Inc., EM-Power (UK) Limited and regular contributor to the Australia Psychological Type Review. Having lived in the US for 20 years she is now splitting her time 50-50 between the US and the UK. She is an international expert in business applications of Type and Temperament. Author of six books including Be a Successful Consultant, Turning Team Performance Inside Out, Dating, Mating and Relating and the Teamwork from the Inside Out Field Book (2003), she specialises in helping organisations achieve better business results by capitalising on individual personality differences. Susan has run workshops on building and managing a successful consulting business for over 16 years. She has also worked in business development for both US and UK consulting organisations.
